

News from the Fishbon Library

July 2019

Updates for UCSF clinical nursing staff on library classes and services, tips on research for nursing practice and resources for patients & families

Systematic Review Training

The UCSF JBI Centre is committed to advancing patient and family care by teaching JBI comprehensive systematic review (CSR) methods. The CSR workshop will enable learners to transform a particular clinical problem/interest into a systematic review that can be used to support global health efforts.

To learn more about this weeklong course including upcoming dates, access the 2019 Course Flyer on the UCSF Department of Nursing website: <https://www.ucsfnursing.org/ucsf-jbi-centre>

More on Systematic Reviews

The JBI Database of Systematic Reviews and Implementation Reports is the Joanna Briggs Institute's peer-reviewed journal for systematic reviews. The June 2019 issue features a systematic review re: experiences of HIV-infected adults with healthcare, jointly published by Rutgers and UCSF.

Access the online journal from the UCSF Campus Library catalog:

Want to know more about systematic reviews and how they can provide evidence for your practice? Want to conduct a systematic review but are not sure how to get started? The Fishbon Library can help! Contact Michelle Lieggi for a personal consultation.

For Patients and Families

When they get home, where are your patients getting their nutrition information? The Patient and Family Librarian has compiled a list of selected online nutrition resources for them.

These resources and many more are available to the public on the Fishbon Library website at <https://tiny.ucsf.edu/medicalquestions>
